Dear Delegates:

With China's continuous fast-developing economy, the legal service industry is booming in this region. However, China's legal professionals, whatever judges or lawyers are facing the dilemma of low efficiency and expensive cost due to the increasing volume of the complex litigation and non-litigation cases. China Central Government's "Eleventh Five-Year Plan" and "2006-2020 State Informationalization Strategy" states that China will greatly promote the development of legal service industry with high technology. The implementation of legal technology strategy suitable under China's specific judicial system has been an emergent task for legal practitioners to improve their organization's efficiency and provide quality services to customers.

Legal Technology Asia Summit 2008 will proudly provide you with a platform to learn the People's Courts informationization progress, how the progress affects the law firm's operation, the latest in information and cutting edge technologies relevant to legal professionals either in law firms, corporate legal department or governmental judicial organs. The event has been created with the intention of allowing IT Directors the opportunity to hear innovative and practical information from leading experts in the field.

We sincerely invite you to attend this international summit where you will have the opportunity to network with senior Judges and legal IT experts from leading law firms and multinational corporations and you are guaranteed to take away with applicable methodologies to build your own legal technology strategy for your organization.

Yours Sincerely
Dr. Chen Guiming
